AIRSHIP WORRY CAUSED SUICIDE

Quartermaster Caron Unnerved by the Responsibility of Helping Wright and Curtiss.

New York. Sept. 28.—Warried by the responsibility of assisting the aeronauta, Wilhur Wright an' Glem H. Curtiss, in preparations for their aeroplane flights at Goverrors Issand, Quartermaster Sergt. James Caron of Company I. Twenty-ninth infantry, committed suicide in his bunk outside the redoubt at Fort Jay, fast night, Caron shot himself through the head with a rifle before his room mate, Private Harris, could prevent him. Caron had recently appeared to be greatly worried over his responsibility as quartermaster of his company, and about two weeks ago was absent for four days without leave, in the hope, he told his company mates, that it would result in his being reduced and relieved of the responsibility.

Caron had been delegated to assist Wright and Curtiss in the prepara-

The search for the floth point of the point of the cover, but the search for men is still going on. Men are always needed. Lincoln needed them during the civil war. He got them by hundreds of thousands. One of them became president of the United States. After his term of office expired he made a trip to Europe. At Berlin he was halled as the great general who had triumphed in the greatest civil war of all time. Responding to the compliment, he corrected the culogist by saying that he did not triumph alone. The successful ending of the war was not his personal achievement, but the achievement of every man who collsted in the union army and did his duty.

After Gettysburg, when the confederate invasion of the north was repulsed and the army of Northern Virginia, had to go back to the old line of defense, some sought to lay the clame for failure on this general and that. But the chief commander of the southern forces said that no one was to blame for the disaster but himself. Yet his soldiers knew he was not to blame, and they loved him for his magnanimity and pledged him their lives.

I care not whether a man is called a tutor, an instructor, or a full professor, nor whether any academic degrees adorn his name; nor how many facts or symbols of facts he has stored away in his brain. If he has these four powers: clear sight, quick imagination, sound reason, and right, strong will, I call him an educated man, and fit to be a teacher.-Henry Van Dyke.

When Charles Darwin communicated to his fellow scientists his announcement of the famous theory of the origin of species, another investigator who had hit upon the same notion, said: "Let Darwin go ahead with it." Thus he put aside any ambition he might have had to be the exponent of a theory which was to command the attention of mankind. Darwinism might have been Wallaccism. But Darwin A Connecticut man gleefully announces that he has succeeded in breeding a duck which has no breastbone. Nobody who has ever carved a duck will object to this new variety, but the ambitious Connecticut man should be warned that any attempt to produce a chicken without a wishbone will be resented by several million children, to say nothing of grown-

"I peel the tomatoes by dipping them in boiling water and then cut them in halves or quarters—just so they pack in the jars nicely. To each quart jar of tomatoes I add a teaspoonful of sait. When the jar is as full as it can be. I put on the glass top, without the rubber, and put the jars into a washboller of warm water, taking care to have a board in the bottom, so there is no danger of the jars cracking. Then I let the water stay on the stove, noting the time the water comes to a boil. The cans stay in the water just a quarter of an hour after the water boils. a quarier of an hour after the water boils. Then I take out each can, and if the jar is not full to the top I add sufficient boiling water to fill the can to overflowing. The rubber is added, the top screwed on tight and the jar

ASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First-The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second-That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third-It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system-not by stupefying it-and our readers are entitled to the information .- Hall's Journal of Health.

Dr. Raymond M. Evarts, of Santa Ynez, Cal., says: "After using your Castoria for children for years it annoys me greatly to have an ignorant druggist substitute something else, especially to the patient's disadvantage, as in this case. I enclose herewith the wrapper of the imitation.

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says : "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

N. H., says: "I use your Castoria in my practice, and in my family."

Dr. Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: " As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice, found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. Howard James, of New York, City, says: "It is with great pleasure that I desire to testify to the medicinal virtue of your Castoria. I have used it with marked benefit in the case of my own daughter, and have obtained excellent results from its administration to other children in my practice."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says : "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says : "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice and find it very satisfactory,"

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says : I prescribe your Castoria extensively as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am sware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Channing H. Cook, of Saint Louis, Mo., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years past in my own family and have always. found it thoroughly efficient and never objected to by children, which is a great consideration in view of the fact that most medicines of this character are obnoxious and therefore difficult of administration. As a laxative I consider it the peer of anything that I ever prescribed."

Dr. L. O. Morgan, of So. Amboy, N. J. says: "I prescribe your Castoris every day for children who are suffering from constipation, with better effect than I receive from any other combination of drugs."

Dr. H. J. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. Wm. L. Bosserman, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I am pleased to speak a good word for your Castoria. I think so highly of it that I not only recommend it to others, but have used it in my own family."

Dr. F. H. Kyle, of St. Paul, Minn., says : "It affords me pleasure to add my name to the long list of those who have used and now enderse your Castoria. The fact of the ingrediente being known through the printing of the fo on the wrapper is one good act sufficient reason for the recen mendation of any physician. I know of its good qualities and know of its good qualities commend it cheerfully."
